Locations:

James E. Anderson (JEA) Water Treatment Plant.

Scope of Work: Contractor shall furnish all labor, materials, tools, equipment, and supervision for the Mechanical Integrity Testing (MIT) of JEA Water Treatment Plant.

As specified in Rule 62-528.425, Florida Administrative Code (FAC), a Class I injection well must demonstrate mechanical integrity every 5 years. The most recent casing pressure test for injection well IW-1 was last completed on February 22, 2019. Therefore, the next mechanical integrity testing (MIT) must be completed on or before February 21, 2024.

The actual testing consists of the performance of a video survey of the injection well. The testing also includes performance of a pressure test to test the casing for any leaks. A high-resolution temperature log and radioactive tracer survey are also performed on the injection well. After completion of testing, a report is prepared by the consultant summarizing the testing results.

The Specifications included in these Contract Documents establish the performance and quality requirements for material, equipment and the minimum standards for mechanical integrity testing of Class I deep injection well IW-1 at the JEA Water Treatment Plant.

The Contractor shall, at all times during testing, maintain the ability to return the well to service within 8 hours of notification of emergency conditions that require the use of the injection wells for fluids disposal.

If an inflatable packer has been installed in the deep injection well at the time of notification, the Contractor will have the option of removing the inflatable packer from the well or deflating the packer and allowing the packer to remain in the well during fluids disposal. The expense of such work shall be included in the applicable unit or lump sum prices for the work described. In the case that the Contractor is requested to interrupt testing to return the well to service, the Contractor shall be compensated for the time spent placing the well back into service and disassembly of the wellhead.
