Resident Richard Lawton spoke on the Proclamation for National School Choice Week and voiced his opinions on the objectives of the Moms for Liberty group and Charter Schools.

Resident Blake Angle expressed approval for the decision to not allow a people-per-acreage increase and he spoke on a suggestion to have the Sheriff's Office provide policing for the whole city in order to assist the budget rather than contract the Port St. Lucie Police Department as a private police force.

Resident John Keck inquired on the Council's high bidding, affordable housing, and expressed concern for Council actions.

Councilman Bonna clarified that Charter Schools were Public Schools and expressed disagreement for doing away with the Police Department as well as the notions stated that Council does not listen to residents. Mayor Martin stated the Council's goal was to be transparent and accountable, and to have a high-performing city organization, and she explained that residents give feedback during the Citizens Summit and can see what projects the City was working on.
